Research Title

The Role of Grammarly in Enhancing Academic Writing Accuracy among EFL Students at Qassim University

Research Questions

Main research question:

1. To what extent does the use of Grammarly improve the academic writing accuracy of EFL students at Qassim University?

Sub-questions:

1. How does Grammarly affect grammar and punctuation accuracy in student essays?
2. Does the use of Grammarly encourage more effective revision practices?
3. How do students perceive Grammarly's usefulness for their writing development?

Short Methodology (Memo)

This study will use a quasi-experimental design with two groups (one using Grammarly and one not) over 10 weeks. Data will be collected through pre- and post-tests of academic essays, revision logs, and short surveys about student perceptions. Quantitative analysis will measure accuracy gains, while qualitative feedback will explore attitudes. Ethical approval and informed consent will be ensured.
